If the student withdraws from or does not receive a C or higher in a prerequisite course, the student will not be admitted to the program.

What if I am a transfer student that has completed some nursing courses?

Transfer Student Admission

Transfer students seeking admission to the BSN Program must meet all LWC transfer requirements and BSN program entrance requirements.

Students desiring to transfer from another accredited Pre-Licensure BSN program must complete all admission criteria and application steps as outline above.

- A letter of good standing from the Chair of the Nursing Program from which the student is transferring must accompany the application.
- Transfer applicant from another accredited Pre-licensure BSN Program will be evaluated on an individual case by case basis.
- Prior pre-licensure BSN curriculum or healthcare (HLCA) prerequisite coursework will be evaluated on a case by case basis. If a student wishes to have previous HLCA coursework or nursing (NURS) courses evaluated for transfer acceptance, then the student must initiate a course substitution form with the application process. The course substitution form can be requested from the Program of Nursing Office nursing@lindsey.edu. The Program of Nursing Course Substitution form MUST be completed in full in order for any HLCA prerequisite or pre-licensure BSN curriculum course to be considered as a transfer

What if I am not accepted to the nursing program?

Applicants not accepted to the nursing program are informed via a letter mid-June. A nursing advisor will contact the student to establish a course schedule for the upcoming Fall semester. Students are encouraged to continue in course work at LWC to complete general education requirements and possibly declare a minor or a second major.

Can I re-apply to the nursing program if I was not accepted the first time?

Yes, many nursing students re-apply a second or third time to a nursing program. Persistent successful coursework and completion of prerequisite nursing courses or non-nursing courses required in the nursing program will only strengthen a student's application.

If I am accepted into the program, is there an orientation day?

Yes. Accepted students must attend a mandatory orientation session. Students will be notified of the date, time, and location of the session.

How do I find out answers to my questions that are not listed here?
