

Reading with a Double-entry Journal

Use this handy form to generate and record ideas while you read sources for a paper you are writing.

OBSERVATIONS	ANALYSIS
Words, passages, and images that interest me, seem important, or stand out in any way.	Ideas about my observations—article’s main point, implications, virtues/weaknesses of the piece, other reactions.

So what?—Here is what I have to say in response to the article: