THE ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia worn in the processional is a colorful custom reflecting the ancient origins of modern American higher education. The traditional costume derives from Medieval times, when scholars of Oxford, Paris, and elsewhere robed themselves in caps, hoods, and gowns to distinguish themselves from their fellow townsmen, hence the controversy between "Town and Gown". Most American colleges and universities follow the uniform code for costumes established in 1893 by an intercollegiate commission.

The gown initially may have served primarily as a type of overcoat to protect the instructor from the cold in unheated and cavernous buildings. The bachelor's and master's gowns are usually plain and unadorned; those of doctors are marked by wide velvet bands both down the front of the gown and on the sleeves.

The cap or 'mortarboard' can be traced to the squarish cap worn by the masons of the Middle Ages. The tassel attached to the top is generally black for the bachelor's degree and master's degree and often golden for the doctors.

The most distinctive item of the academic costume is the hood, which passes around the neck and extends down the back. This triangular piece is edged with velvet, with the color indicating the field of learning. Some of the more common departmental and faculty colors are white for the arts, gold for science, blue for education. The colors on the part of the hood extending down the back represent the institution from which the degree was earned.

THE FACULTY MACE

The Faculty Mace is carried by the Grand Marshall of the Faculty signifying the authority of the college faculty. The current Faculty mace was presented to Lindsey Wilson College in 1998 by Walter S. Reuling, seventh President of Lindsey Wilson College.

President Reuling was so taken with the E. Fay Jones – designed John B. Begley Chapel that he designed and executed a new mace for the college. He turned the haft from African mahogany and the "crown" of the mace is 24 carat gold plate on brass machined from old gram – weights that were used in the college's chemistry laboratory.

Retired General Motors machinist Harold Plichta of Columbia fabricated the crown. President Reuling presented the Faculty Mace at his final Honors Convocation in April 1998.

Both the Presidential Medallion and the Faculty Mace are on Display in a special case adjacent to the President's office in the L.R. McDonald Administration Building.
